GIRDLER CALLS UNION LEADER MURRAY A LIAR

Claims Sen. Guffey "Doesn't Know What He's Talking About" in Strike.

DENIES CONTRACT IS ISSUE

Declares CIO Wants Members, Instead of More Rights for Steel Workers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—Tom [illegible] chairman of Republic [illegible] told a senate committee today Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing [illegible] was "a liar" and that Sen. Guffey, Democrat of Pennsylvania, "doesn't know what he is talking about" with respect to the steel strike.

Appearing before the senate committee to answer charges made against Republic by Murray, Girdler made his assertion in answer to a question by Sen. Burke, Republican of New Hampshire. The senator asked whether Murray's statement was true that the only issue was the question of obtaining an oral agreement to arbitrate.

Burke said Sen. Guffey had reported the same thing at an executive meeting of the committee.

"Mr. Murray is a liar to the best of my knowledge and belief and always has been," Girdler snapped back. "Sen. Guffey doesn't know what he's talking about."

Withdrawal Requested

Chairman McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, immediately asked Girdler to withdraw his remark about Guffey, asserting that witnesses are entitled to respectful treatment by all witnesses."

Girdler remained silent.

Guffey, who is not a member of the committee but who was seated at the committee table, arose to assert, "It's all right with me if I can have the privilege of asking the witness a few questions after the others are through."

Guffey later told the committee it was "common talk in Pittsburgh" that Tom Girdler, was asked to resign as head of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., in 1930 for a breach of confidence.

Says He Told Secrets

Guffey said Girdler's resignation was asked by Jones & Laughlin "because you gave confidential information of your company to the company you are now with."

Girdler, still in the witness chair, answered quickly:

"That's a lie and whoever told you that was a liar."

Guffey made the assertion while he was cross-examining Girdler in response to the latter's comment that "Sen. Guffey doesn't know what he's talking about."

"You were talking about irresponsible union officials," Guffey said. "Maybe that's one reason your employes don't want a verbal agreement with you, feeling that if you would give confidential information you aren't responsible either."

Girdler protested the question wasn't "decent." He pointed out that Chairman McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, had reproved him for his statement about Guffey.

Girdler demanded that labor unions be made responsible for their acts by law. The CIO movement headed by John L. Lewis, he said, lacks such responsibility and any contract with it "is not worth the paper it is written on."

Murray had testified that the only strike issue was whether the steel companies would sign an agreement already made verbally with the union.

Denies Accord Reached

"That is not true," Girdler declared. "There is no such agreement, oral, or otherwise, now in existence."

The steel executive said 23,000 Republic employes have remained at work throughout the strike "despite threats of violence and many additional thousands have been kept from work against their will."

He reviewed previous charges made against the CIO contending its goal was to recruit members, not to obtain additional rights for workers. Thousands have protested against the company signing any agreement with the CIO, he said.

Girdler summed his contentions as:

1—That the CIO has denied the right to work to those who refuse to pay it tribute.

2—That it promotes violence and disregard of law.

3—That the "CIO is associated with communism."

He denied specifically that Republic has imported strike-breakers and said interference with the mails by pickets had been proved.

In conclusion, he suggested principles for employer-employe relationships to promote industrial peace as follows:

"(1) Every worker should be

Mellon, DuPont, Raskob Branded As Tax Dodgers

Sloan, Lamont and Other Millionaires Mentioned as Avoiding Payments via Holding Firms.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—Two score names of persons high in business and financial fields were listed by treasury officials today in the senate-house inquiry into tax evasion and avoidance.

The list included Andrew W. Mellon, Pierre duPont, John J. Raskob, Thomas W. Lamont, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., and Mrs. Ethel H. duPont.

The names were listed in tables given the congressional investigating committee by Guy T. Helvering, internal revenue commissioner as the committee studied what Helvering termed the "device of personal holding companies" to reduce tax payments.

Not Labeled Illegal

Helvering did not say at any point that the tax-reducing activities of those named were in any way illegal.

Instead, he said they took advantage of tax deductions allowed personal holding companies under the law which are not permitted on individual tax returns.

Mellon was described as having two holding companies. His name was brought into the hearing early in today's session when the treasury official listed the names of 11 holding companies and their principal owners as examples of how holding companies were used by wealthy persons to cut tax payments.

The two companies which Helvering said were owned by the former secretary of the treasury were given as the Adason Tobacco Corp. of New York City and the Penn Tobacco Corp. of Greenwich, Conn.

Names Others

Besides A. W. Mellon, Helvering asserted, other persons having an interest in both companies were:

C. Louis Allen, described as a manufacturer of tobacco products.

C. D. Marshall, of Pittsburgh steel manufacturer and bridge builder.

R. B. Mellon, deceased, of Pittsburgh, a brother of Andrew.

As Mellon's name was brought in, Sen. Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, asked that he be identified.

"Is he the former secretary of the treasury?" the senator queried. "Where does he live?"

Answering for Helvering, Abe Fortas, a special expert, identified Mellon as the Pittsburgh financier and former government official.

The exhibit listed first the names of Robert P. Scripps and E. W. Scripps as principal owners of personal holding companies.

Harrison asked whether the two were "engaged in the newspaper business, and how many papers do they have?"

"They have papers in a large number of cities," Helvering replied.

Asks About Transfers

Harrison then asked whether profits from the papers were transferred to the holding companies, making profits subject only to the holding company tax.

There was no reply from Helver-

INCOME TAX BOOST IS GIVEN SENATE OK

LaFollette Proposal Approved as Upper House Overrides Leaders.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—The senate voted today for a proposal by Senator La Follette, Progressive of Wisconsin, to bolster federal reserves by raising surtaxes on personal incomes.

In one of the most surprising votes of the session, the senate overrode its leadership and approved the La Follette amendment by a vote of 35 to 31.

He offered the proposal as an amendment to the administration's "nuisance tax" extension bill, which would continue a host of miscellaneous excise levies for two years.

The senate quickly went on to consider another La Follette amendment to cut personal income tax exemptions from $2,500 to $2,000 for married persons and from $1,000 to $500 for single persons.

The increase in surtaxes, which would not affect married persons with incomes under $6,000, would raise an estimated $278,000,000 additional revenue annually.

The Wisconsin senator argued that an immediate broadening of the tax base was necessary, because "I don't believe the budget can ever be balanced by reduction of expenditures."

He termed his income increase plan "a long step toward balancing the budget" by taxing those who are able to pay," and pleaded for support from "every senator who says he favors a speedy balance of federal revenue and expenditure."

The La Follette amendment would raise the surtax on $6,000 incomes of married persons without dependents, from $116 to $136; on $10,000 incomes from $415 to $540; on $100,000 incomes from $32,469 to $37,534; and on $1,000,000 incomes from $679,044 to $834,124.

La Follette noted that the tax on $6,000 incomes in Great Britain is nearly 10 times as large as the sum he proposed.

DISAPPEARANCE OF MARION CO. WOMAN PROBED

Sheriff and Patrol Search for Meeker Resident Missing Since Tuesday.

REPORT IS MADE TODAY

Mrs. Charlotte Soule, 37, Last Seen After Visiting Kin Near Meeker.

Sheriff Fred Miller and his deputies and state police today were seeking to solve the mystery surrounding the disappearance Tuesday noon of Mrs. Charlotte Soule, 37, mother of three children, from her farm home near Meeker.

This noon following a search by relatives no trace of her had been found other than a hat belonging to one of her children found on an east-west road north of Meeker. She was carrying a suit box and bundle of clothing when last seen walking northwest of the village and it it believed the hat might have fallen from the luggage.

Relatives today said she has been in a distraught condition for nearly a week, not eating or sleeping regularly. The Soule family was said by relatives to have been in difficult financial condition since the death of the woman's husband, Richard, four years ago this month after a long illness. His illness left the family with scarcely funds enough to live on, but Mrs. Soule and the older child have been working a way through, relatives said.

Visits Relatives

Mrs. Soule was last seen Tuesday noon at the home of her brother-in-law, Bud Soule, about a mile and a half north of her home. She lived with her three children, Richard, 15, Etta Jane, 13, and Juanita, 9, on a small farm about one mile west of Meeker on the north side of Harding highway.

She walked to the home of the brother-in-law, carrying the box and bundle. As she reached the driveway to the home, she hesitated a moment before walking in, relatives said. When she entered the house, she was persuaded to stay for dinner and during all the time she seemed extremely nervous and excited over something.

She left immediately after eating, and did not tell what she had in the box. It is believed she had clothing, however. She left a coat which she had been wearing, saying

CARNEY ACQUITTED OF BRIBERY CHARGE

Jury Returns Verdict After Two Hours' Deliberation and Four Ballots.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Edward T. Carney of Cleveland, assistant chief of the state securities division, was free today of a charge that he accepted bribes in return for certifying stock of the now defunct Consolidated Motors Corp. of Lima.

A jury of six men and six women acquitted the dapper official after two hours' deliberation in which four ballots were taken.

The prosecution had charged that Carney accepted bribes totalling $8,000, from Elmer F. Harsch, president of the motors concern. Carney said that $5,000 was a loan which he had since repaid to Harsch and that $1,050 was in payment for a list of stock sales prospects.

Expressing belief that the acquittal verdict proved the justice of the jury system, Carney said he was undecided about future plans. He took a one-year furlough from his position when the bribery charge was filed.

Carney's superior, state commerce director Alfred A. Benesch said he considered the verdict a vindication not only of Carney but of the securities division and its administration.

YOUNGSTOWN MAYOR WANTS MILLS OPENED

Calls on Roosevelt and Davey To Help Resume Steel Operations.

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 24—Mayor Lionel Evans today telegraphed President Roosevelt and Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio asking their aid in reopening strike-bound steel mills.

Three plants of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and one of the Republic Steel Corp. are strike-bound over refusal of the companies to sign labor contracts with the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

Under proclamation of Gov. Davey, Ohio national guardsmen are maintaining the "status quo" as federal mediators in Cleveland strive for peace. To the President, Mayor Evans said:

"We request an end to the unlawful conditions that now exist in this great industrial district in order that the mills may be permitted to open their gates under the protection of the troops assembled here; and the men be assured of peaceful ingress and egress to and from work."

The mayor told Gov. Davey that it seemed apparent to him now "that there will be no agreement reached between the steel companies and the unions through the mediation board."

"It is a gross injustice," he continued, "to our citizens to maintain the status quo under the circumstances."

DRIVER IS HELD AFTER MISHAP

Nevada Man Arrested in Accident That Overturns Marion Machine.

FOUR PERSONS INJURED

Deputy Makes Arrest After Picking Up Radio Message While on Patrol.

A Nevada man, driver of an automobile which figured in an accident late yesterday afternoon in which four Marion residents were injured, was being held in the county jail today, Sheriff Fred F. Miller reported. A charge will be filed against him in the morning, the sheriff said.

The driver, George Kinsley, 42, allegedly drove away from the scene of the accident after his car struck the rear of a car driven by Edward Ladd of 214 Pearl street on the Wyandot road just north of Brush Ridge. The Ladd car went into the ditch, overturned twice and plunged into a concrete abutment.

Those injured are Mr. and Mrs. Ladd and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yochem of 190 West Church street. No serious injuries were reported, although Mrs. Yochem suffered severe bruises and a badly wrenched shoulder and the others were bruised and shaken up. They were treated at their homes by physicians.

Sheriff Miller said the Marion residents were returning from a trip through the high-water area about 5:30 p. m. when the accident happened. Men working near the scene caught the license number of the other car and reported it to authorities. Sheriff Miller sent the information out over the state patrol radio, the call being picked up by Deputy William H. Willis, who was out on road patrol. Willis drove to Nevada and arrested Kinsley about 7 p. m.

The car driven by Kinsley is owned by Ray Burke, also of Nevada, Miller said. Kinsley, who had been helping Burke paint a house in Marion, allegedly took the car without Burke's consent yesterday morning, the sheriff reported. Glen Barth of Nevada, with Kinsley at the time of the accident, said Kinsley had asked him to take a ride with him shortly before the accident. Barth was not held by authorities.

PARKERS WAIT SENTENCE IN WENDEL KIDNAP PLOT

Detective and His Son Guilty of Attempting To Wring Confession.

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., June 24—Another complex sequel to the Lindbergh kidnaping drew to a close today as Ellis Parker Sr., colorful "country detective," and his son Ellis Jr., awaited sentence for plotting the kidnaping of Paul H. Wendel.

The two were convicted last night by a federal jury of conspiring to seize and torture Wendel to obtain a false confession to the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. This "confession" 15 months ago delayed for three days the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the Lindbergh crime.

The Parkers were liable to sentences of one day to 100 years. The jury, which deliberated for 6½ hours on the 11th week of testimony, recommended leniency, and

Divine's Disciple Takes Stand in Mann Act Trial

Judge Bars Acquittal as State Rests Its Case; Defendants Scored.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 24—John West Hunt, fotund disciple of Father Divine, Negro cult leader, opened his defense today against federal charges that he brought 17-year-old Delight Jewett to California from Colorado and debauched her.

As the government closed its case, Judge Leon Yankwich denied a defense motion for acquittal and commented:

"I am satisfied that the facts here are such as to justify the jury in finding all defendants guilty on both counts of the indictment. The evidence shows that Hunt satisfied his lust at the expense of this mere child, keeping up a pretense that it was being done in the name of holy religion."

Indicted with Hunt were H. H. Smith, Mrs. Agnes Gardner and Mrs. Elizabeth Peters.

Paul J. Cotter, agent of the federal bureau of investigation, was the last prosecution witness. He said Smith told him Miss Jewett's parents were not notified when she left Denver.

In elaborating her story of her alleged seduction by Hunt, Miss Jewett told the jury that as the Virgin Mary, she was to have gone to Honolulu to give birth to a new redeemer.

"Who was to have made the Hawaiian trip with you?" asked Jack Powell, federal prosecutor.

"Several cult members and Mr. Christ—I mean Mr. Hunt," Delight answered.

Concerning her previous testimony that a brush salesman entered Hunt's Beverly Hills home last Christmas day, when she said she and Hunt first were intimate, Miss Jewett testified that others there called him Joseph.

Hunt's attorney, Hugh Macbeth, asked her: "Isn't it a fact that you were glad when you learned Joseph was not to be the father of the redeemer you were to bear?"

"I guess so," she answered.

At one point in the questioning Macbeth asked Judge Yankwich:

"Is the immaculate conception, as interpreted in theology, a violation of the Mann act, your honor?"

"The immaculate conception is not at stake," the judge replied. "We are concerned with the matter of transportation for immoral purposes. The government must show the immoral purpose of the trip."

Hunt, nattily attired, expressed eagerness to take the stand as the government was winding up its case. "I love nothing better than to tell the truth," he said during a recess. "Truth is a wonderful thing."

"Peace!" echoed a follower nearby. "It is truly wonderful!"

PAROCHIAL AID SNAGS BUDGET

Conferees Balk at Million Outlay for Public and Religious Textbooks.

HOUSE MEMBERS OPPOSED

Two Senators Uphold It; New Committee May Have To Be Selected.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Aid for parochial schools proved a snag today for a conference committee attempting to reconcile rival appropriations bills passed by the Ohio senate and house of representatives.

The question arose over an amendment to the senate bill which earmarked $1,000,000 of public school funds to provide textbooks for public, private and parochial schools.

Two house members of the joint committee, which is holding closed sessions, were reported opposing the amendment, while two senators were insisting that it be retained.

In the event the committee should fail to agree, the procedure would be for each house to appoint new committeemen.

Hen. Verner E. Metcalf, Republican leader, declared that he and many other senators did not know of the textbook amendment when they voted for the budget bill Monday night.

"In my opinion the amendment providing for parochial or private school books has no place in any appropriations bill," said Metcalf, "until such time as it is duly authorized by law, and any attempt so to include it is unconstitutional.

"Whatever the expedient that prompted its unexpected inclusion in last-minute amendments is unwarranted, and if not removed by the conference committee will force the majority of Republicans in the senate to refuse to concur in the committee report."

His statement followed an outline by Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder of 10 principles which he said should be followed to avoid new taxes and "preserve proper economies."

At the top of Yoder's list was "elimination of political payroll padding." The "no new taxes" senate bloc which Yoder heads has contended that the budget of Gov. Martin L. Davey—approved by the house—was padded to make political jobs.

"The parochial school book amendment must have its day in court," Yoder said. "Inasmuch as the policy of the senate has already been established, it is suggested that the house, by resolution, direct its conferees at once what position the house desires to take before its removal from the bill."

Other Yoder principles were: re-establishment of budgeting; opposition to supplementary appropriations bills; earmarked funds for relief when needed; elimination of employe transfers between departments; appropriations to permit examination of state departments by the auditor and attorney general; retention of the present definition of unexpended balances; study of facts on unpaid old age pension applications; and further appropriation reductions if the budget remains unbalanced.

CONFER WITH EXECUTIVES

Meet Inland Steel Official in Effort To Reach Individual Accord.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 24—Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, proposed today that the issues in the steel strike be turned over to President Roosevelt for arbitration.

"We publicly offer today our willingness to accept the President of the United States as the final arbiter in all questions of dispute," Murray told a press conference.

Murray made his statement as Mr. Roosevelt's steel mediation board continued its efforts to break the deadlock between the steel companies and the union on the contract issue—the only major point in dispute.

Meet Executives

The board talked today with steel company executives. Murray said the board's failure so far to produce a settlement, however, was not the reason for his offer to send the issues to the White House for arbitration.

Meanwhile at Harrisburg, Pa., Gov. George H. Earle lifted martial law in the Johnstown strike zone, effective at 7 a. m. tomorrow.

"Apparently the emergency in Johnstown has passed," the governor said. "I therefore decree an end to martial law at 7 a. m. Friday morning."

Earle placed the strike district under martial law last Saturday and ordered closing of the Bethlehem steel mill where a strike had been declared by the committee for industrial organization.

The governor said all forces of the state police and highway patrol will be ordered out of Cambria county, except 200 state police.

President Roosevelt's steel mediation board met with Chairman L. E. Block and other officials of the Inland Steel Co.

It was the first conference the board has held with an individual strike-affected company. Previously the board met representatives of Inland, Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. as a group.

The separate conference led observers to wonder if the board would try to deal with each company individually, instead of facing a united front. All the companies have expressed willingness to bargain with the steel workers organizing committee, but not to sign a contract with this steel unit of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

Charles P. Taft, board chairman, said the board wanted to get better acquainted with Inland officials who had not attended the previous conferences.

The Inland officials who went into the board's hotel suite with Block were Wilfred Sykes, assistant to the president; E. L. Ryerson, vice chairman; Clarence B. Randall, vice president, and E. S. Ballard, counsel.

The union's position was plainly stated by the striker at a CIO meeting who shouted: "We won't go back till they signa da papes!"

Five manufacturers closed their plants in Warren and Niles today after the CIO notified its unions to abandon plans for a general sympathy strike.

Officials of the Brainard Steel Co., who declined to be quoted by name, said their contract with the CIO was "no good."

They denied there was a lockout at their plant, and said operations were curtailed, partly due to lack of orders.

Awaits Union Action

J. C. Manternach, president of the American Welding & Manufacturing Co., said his plant was shut down until "we find out what the union is going to do."

Your Health

Bathing

Next to having pure water to drink, cleanliness is the most important factor in maintaining good health. Yet there are those who, when they are tired and need relaxation and refreshment, have been known to resort to a bath. Napoleon is quoted as saying that water, air and cleanliness are my favorite medicines. All physicians will agree that this prescription is an excellent one.

Despite the modern advances in plumbing, ventilation and other facilities that far outdistance those existing in the days of Napoleon, we still are confronted with many diseases and disorders that can be traced to neglect of body cleanliness. It is difficult to believe that in this advanced generation such could be the case. Surely there is no lack of facilities but in a great many instances I fear, there is neglect to use them.

Soap and warm water in generous quantities make an excellent antiseptic. These health-giving substances are available to everyone. They destroy germs, dirt and most odors.

Bear in mind that the cold tub is stimulating and tends to contract blood vessels. A warm bath is relaxation. For this reason a warm tub is often the one of choice at night prior to going to bed. It helps prevent sleeplessness. In the morning, upon arising, a cool tub may be the one of choice.

What Next?

The wisdom of Gov Davey's decision to call upon the militia to patrol the steel strike area depends to a very large extent upon the facts he has at hand the purposes he has in mind—and what happens next

In any event an unusual step has been taken With all the power authority and responsibility that reposes in his office the governor has reached a decision which might result in reinforcing the picket lines rather than in enforcing the laws which govern picket lines

Maybe in this strange set of circumstances this was a good thing to do Unless there are explanations which the public cannot hear or hearing cannot understand the procedure is extraordinary

The second paragraph in the governor's proclamation says

Steel plants which have been closed shall remain closed during the deliberation of the federal mediation board provided this period of time is reasonably limited

Thus use of the militia is made to turn on the point of progress made by the mediation board The governor's proclamation to maintain the status quo is a provisional order—for a reasonably limited time

If the strike is not settled within a reasonably limited time, the function of the militia in the strike area will not necessarily be to maintain the status quo but may become and should become one of preserving order impartially In that event there most certainly would be an attempt by men who want to go back to work—who believe in their constitutional liberty not to strike—to return to their jobs

The board is not in fact a mediation board but a board named to arbitrate the only question at issue—a written contract. The only difference between Mr John Lewis and Mr Tom Girdler assuming Mr Girdler is a symbol of steel's opposition to CIO is whether steel shall sign a contract or whether it shall not. All pressure seems to be against Mr Girdler as the one who should surrender his position No one suggests that perhaps Mr Lewis might surrender his for the sake of preventing bloodshed and getting men back to work

It is not clear how the so-called mediation board can settle the question but if Gov Davey thinks there is that possibility then perhaps he was wise in sending troops for a reasonably limited time"

If as appears to be possible the complexion of the strike has changed from a battle between CIO and steel to a battle between government and steel what next, and when may 100 000 idle workers reasonably expect to return to their jobs

No, Not Forgotten

It was a stirring scene in the house of representatives last week when Rep Nan Wood Honeyman (personal friend of the Roosevelts prohibitionist mother and first congresswoman from Oregon) stood up bravely for women's rights in the matter of a nuisance tax on cosmetics

The women of the United States feel that they are the forgotten man she pleaded but the predominately masculine house turned a cold shoulder and rejected her proposal of cosmetic tax repeal by a vote of 81 to 46 The tax produces about $18 000 000 a year incidentally

Don't take it too hard Mrs Honeyman Women are not the forgotten men really They are never out of sight nor out of mind Even when you disappear there is a fragrance to your going You light the hours of life like so many animated roses fresh with dew

Thanks in large part to cosmetics They're worth $18 000 000 in nuisance taxes plus the billion dollars or so you would pay for them anyway

Confused.

A lot of honest men are admitting these days they are confused by trying to understand too many things that don't make sense

Typical of their state of mind are the following paragraphs from an article by H G Andrews, editorial director of the Johnstown Democrat

Johnson was trying to figure out why Bethlehem Steel should be ordered by Gov Earle to close down simply because coal mine union leaders threatened to order their men to march on the city He wrote

You know this thing gets funnier and funnier the longer you look at it When men who don't want to work decide to sit down in the factory or mill there is no power in the state to get 'em out But if there are some men in a mill who want to work the state comes along and says Come working Scram Get out—forthwith What we wonder would have happened if the men in the mills who happened to be working had suddenly decided they were tired and just sat down to take a good long rest A sitdown staged by the workers rather than the strikers would have been something new in labor war technique

Maybe the national labor relations board when it gets caught up in its police making would give the puzzled Johnstown editor a ruling on the point In the meantime he seems to agree with a townsman who says the only difference between Johnstown and hell right now is that in the latter place they don't have floods

IT'S A GOOD IDEA

Leon Trotsky has performed the trick of the year and it's a good one if you can do it He got himself tried in Mexico for an offense against Russia and by a commission that can't do any thing to him—H I Phillips in Rochester Democrat & Chronicle

Chickens Come Home To Roost

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

Five years ago Mr Roosevelt's ardent followers would not listen to any one who warned them that they had taken a course which led only to reform but to reaction All they could think of was the needed reforms and their supposed mandate

If they were told that the attempt to seize control of the judiciary that their refusal to uphold the law in the Michigan sitdown strikes that their financial irresponsibility that their contempt for those who asked that the election be interpreted as a mandate for an era of good feeling that their use of political terrorism against their opponents that their encouragement of class hatred that all these things would provoke a dangerous reaction

These warnings are now being verified and the new deal administration is confronted with the ugly temper of a large part of the community which looks upon Mr Girdler as the St George who will slay the dragon To Mr Girdler it is just as bold and just as art true, and just as bellicose is the new dealers of 1937 set out to be They have conjured up an opposition in their own image which has as little use as they had for the processes of persuasion and conciliation

The Opposite Result

Some months ago I ventured to say that the cause of American progressivism was in the hands of inexperienced and short sighted zealots who unless they were soon checked were destined to discredit progressivism and to provoke a violently reactionary temper and that in the ensuing conflict the ruthlessness of the right would be much more than a match for the ruthlessness of the left That was bound to happen For what the new dealers were doing when they attacked the courts apologized for the sitdown strikes formed a political alliance with the CIO and monkeyed with the peril of inflation was to create a mortal fear among those who have a substantial stake in the community that the very foundations of their personal existence were threatened

They frightened not merely the multimillionaires but the middle class In fact they frightened the middle class more than the millionaires who know how to look out for themselves For even in point of numbers the middle class which includes a very considerable part of the skilled workers, is by far the majority in influence it is always decisive when it is aroused These people with good jobs with homes with children in high schools and colleges with bank accounts and insurance policies, have been frightened by what they fear is some kind of unwillingness on the President's part to protect their interests

That and not the abstruse arguments is what defeated the plan to pack the court That is what has caused the revolt in congress That, unless I am greatly mistaken is what caused the vice president to leave Washington at the moment when the President needs him most And that is the reason why, Mr Girdler, who on the intrinsic issues has a mighty poor case, has today a big if demonstrated public support.

"If Roosevelt intoxicated with personal power imbued with a messianic conception of his capacity to bring salvation to the ill nourished ill-clad and ill housed one-third has frightened the other two-thirds to the point where they are thinking of lawless devices to reestablish law and order

Authority Gone

By the middle of last week we had reached the point where the agencies of government stood helpless and hopeless amidst the extremists on both sides of the steel strike There was no rallying point of authority for the reasonable people of the country and they were being offered an intolerable choice between the illegal mass violence of excited workers and the demands of a few irreconcilable employers that the strikes should be crushed by legal but violent means Ever more ominous tendencies manifested themselves In the absence of an impartial and firm attitude upon the part of the federal and local governments there had begun movements on both sides to take the law into their own hands and what was still worse a considerable section of influential conservative opinion had begun to applaud the irreconcilables in their ranks and to flirt with the notion of supporting them with armed mobs

In this excessively dangerous clash of extremist opinion the Taft mediation board offers much the most hopeful prospect It is competent and it is representative of all those in the country who cling to the idea that industrial peace can be had without arbitrary violence This board provides the rallying point of authority for reasonable people It is their agency as distinguished from the weak and prejudiced public officials who have thus far encouraged or tolerated a lawless spirit on both sides

This board has no legal power to arbitrate the issues or to enforce a settlement But the American people can if they are *so minded invest it with a moral author*ity sufficient to bring peace through justice in the embittered struggle They can do no better than to enhance the authority of this board and to visit upon all who seek to resist that authority or to impair its their earnest condemnation

The West in Fiction

A CHANGE in direction of literary emphasis in America is forthcoming according to Edward Davison, English author who recently took out his first citizenship papers after lecturing in the United States for the past 10 years

After all I love many things in America but I do believe we have in Colorado the material of real American literature Davison said You've had So Red the Rose The Wave Porgy and Gone with the Wind and now I think the direction must change The literary focus will be upon the west upon the validity of honest to God American material

Between the Rockies and the Sierras where you can get on a horse and ride two days without seeing any one there is the great epic to be written"

And if literary critics on the eastern seaboard as well as in the west can be relied upon the writers conference held annually on the University of Colorado campus at Boulder and directed by Davison will play an important part in the writing of the epic

The eighth annual conference is to be held from July 26 to Aug 13 with such writers as Sherwood Anderson going over play manuscripts Whit Burnett reading short stories Ford Madox Ford Evelyn Scott and John Peale Bishop novels and Davison and Newman Levy poetry

Davison distinguished poet essayist critic and lecturer explained that they don't pretend that you can teach people to write

You too can learn to write' he quoted one of our familiar advertisements

America is full of literary bucketshops run by fly by nights who couldn't earn a living with their pens in the open market to save their lives and who accordingly have turned to the old confidence game of gulling the poor suckers in Some are run by genuine people who think they are doing their best and who honestly believe that you can teach one to write as you teach typewriting

We simply feel that if some one has a natural ability combined with a natural ambition—a need and a taste—then that like anything else can be helped by other who have literally gone through the mill

Last year Davison said writers from 30 states attended the conferences and they went away enormously interested and excited

The workshop method found to be the most effective in the development of literary work is used in the conference Writers are divided into short story poetry novel and miscellaneous prose groups with on standing writers heading discussions of each group

Written works are submitted for criticism several weeks in advance of the conference They are read by the heads of the groups and then discussed by members

The conference was started in 1930 being held for two-week periods until 1935 when it was extended to three weeks It is nationally recognized as the most elaborate and comprehensive organization of its kind

The Lost Generation

A POST DEPRESSION sun shines brightly once again for thousands of college graduates today as another commencement month draws near an end, but throughout the country other thousands disillusioned depression born graduates still look vainly for the jobs that never quite caught up with them

They graduated too soon remarked a college official For them the depression isn't over yet

A nationwide survey of 50 representative colleges reveals that the demand in many schools today for trained college graduates was the greatest in history

But they want them fresh from college commented a college placement official Business men don't seem interested in the college student who graduated two or three years ago or even one year ago

Reported the University of Pittsburgh placement bureau

Industry is doing more recruiting this year than in the last ten years Many seniors are receiving several offers at excellent salaries and splendid opportunities for advancement

Commented a Pitt official

Students who graduated before business picked up still come into the placement bureau here looking for jobs But it's no go Every commencement makes it all the harder for them, all the more difficult to secure a job

At the beginning of their careers he said they already find themselves displaced by younger newer recruits

They are the lost generation he said Most of them will never find a place in *the professions they studied so hard to pre*pare themselves for

Most of them will eventually find a place in other lines of work probably unsuited for their special talents Many have joined the services—the army the navy and the marine corps. Many are to be found with the CCC

Many" he said sadly will search for years yet before they find the security they went to college for

It is one of the great tragedies of the many tragedies the depression brought forth he said They became educated too soon at a time when education like labor was a drug on the market Still in their early twenties they must already make way to younger men

But for those whom the depression passed by safe in the seclusion of campus life things were never brighter

At Carnegie Tech John D Beatty head of the placement bureau there reported

Seventy-five per cent of the engineering class is already placed and 90 per cent will be definitely located before the month is over It is the greatest demand in seven years.

At Duquesne the Bureau of Recommendations reported that graduates were in great demand predicting 80 per cent would definitely be placed before graduation

At other colleges it was the same Graduates were in great demand Prosperity had reached the campus But for those who graduated during the depression—prosperity had yet to turn the corner

Neutral Officials Could End Strike

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, By The Marion Star

WASHINGTON June 24 — The first ray of light in the strike crisis has come in the action of Attorney General Cummings in ordering the arrest of pickets who interfered with the delivery of the mails in Ohio

This evidence of an intention to enforce the law irrespective of whether it touched unions or employers is the most salutary thing that has happened in a long while

Last week this correspondent quoted the statute showing that there is a responsibility on the President and the attorney general to detect and arrest the individuals who have been tampering with the mails The department of justice to its credit be it said now has acted on that statute

There are other statutes which *need enforcement too as for in*stance, the federal laws which make the leaders of the proposed general strike in Warren Ohio, liable for engaging in a conspiracy to tie up plants engaged in interstate commerce Under the definition of interstate commerce laid down by the supreme court of the United States in upholding the Wagner law recently a general strike is an unlawful act because the activities of the strike leaders constitute a restraint of trade The evidence of the intent to paralyze interstate commerce is to be found in the newspaper statements by the strike leaders themselves

If the Roosevelt administration now will invoke all the federal statutes which have been violated in the strike piece will come as an inevitable result.

As a matter of fact, the unlimited right to strike has been abused by the CIO and the issue raised by the steel companies may have a profound effect on the whole future of labor relations

Use Anti War Principles

The principle involved is a simple one For years the peace loving citizens of the United States have not only deplored international war but have by treaty and every other way signified their adherence to the idea that there must be a period of nine months for the investigation of controversies before there is resort to war

The same reasoning applies to domestic peace Instead of permitting strikes to be called without notice and without submitting grievances to recognized tribunals or grievance committee the CIO unions have staged "sitdown strikes and other interruptions or stoppages of work They have resorted to violence without giving an opportunity for mediation or cooling off They have violated written agreements pledging them to use grievance committee machinery before engaging in a strike

If therefore labor unions are compelled by law to use the avenues of mediation tribunals or grievance committees before resorting to strikes an advance will have been made This unquestionably is the view of neutral opinion today throughout America

The spectacle of the great state of Ohio unable through its governor to protect men in their right to work constitutes a sad chapter in American history but a much worse situation arises when the responsibility of the President of the United States for the maintenance of the privilege and im*munities of the citizens is con*

NEW YORK June 24 — Of all picturesque shoe string producers Broadway has nurtured none who has enlivened the Rialto lore with so many rollicking tales as Will Morrissey He has literally started a Broadway production and held it together with nothing but a $10 bill

An actor himself indeed a versatile comedian, he likes nothing better than to collect a group of hungry actors and grub-stake them Most of his quixotic efforts it is true have been flops but not all He bankrolled The Gorilla which rolled up profits of $100 000

He has whipped a show into shape in five feverish days and started out gloriously optimistic on a barn storming trip that would often wind up on some dreary depot platform with the village sheriff in command of the trunks scenery and any other negotiable assets

But he comes back to Broadway smiling and chuck a luck with a fresh crop of ideas And with all his vicissitudes he manages to appear snappily dressed Recently he became general manager for Billy Rose but the Rialto expects him back He's a trouper to the core

Hawaii Defens Vulnerable

Military Authorities Say Te Show Weaknesses

By International News Service

HONOLULU, T H June Vulnerability of naval and military establishments here as demonstrated during the recent maneuvers, may bring about the centralization of army strength establishing posts on at least other island—the island of 200 miles to the southeast

Rapid development of the plane has made possible enemy to capture one of the side islands and establish there for raids upon Oahu, locale of Honolulu, military agree

At present all the naval military strength in the Pacific America is concentrated about Honolulu. The outside have no permanent units

The navy demonstrated graphic way the value of Honolulu to air raids from other islands of the group

Helpless Against Bombers

Bombers from the fleet miles in from sea, and was at the port of entry captured it, and established a strategic enemy" air base Both the army and defense naval forces were helpless to the raid it was said

That military minds are concerned over this problem before the recent maneuvers shown in statements by Gen H Dern secretary of War Major General Hugh D commanding the Hawaiian department of the army

Regular army troops maneuvered on the island of Hawaii eventually" declared Secretary Dern after personally surveying the situation

Plane Need Cited

General Drum declared "Of the greatest needs in this country is for more planes of various types and more and better fields especially on the outer islands This whole exercise of army navy war games) demonstrated a vital weakness particular"

Hilo captured during the war games is 200 miles southeast of here It is reached two flying hours for bomber planes

Aside from a small detachment operating an army radio station on the north tip a naval radio crew at Hilo and a small force in charge of a recreation camp the national park neither the army nor the navy has any defense forces assigned to the big island of Hawaii itself

It is true ...the supplies are unusual ...mail, as Postmaster General Farley describes it, but what is more unusual is that the workman has lost the protection now of both the federal and state governments in his right to work at his job. Certainly the conditions surrounding the delivery of mail are unusual, but so are the circumstances whereby one group of workmen are permitted with the help of the state militia to keep a plant from being operated by the men who really want to go back to work.

Every day that the federal and state law enforcement agencies are derelict in their duty adds to the difficulty of settling the strike by peaceable means and especially puts a greater handicap before the mediation board which seeks to find a solution.

The steel companies say the CIO unions are irresponsible and will not honor a contract. They point to the experience of General Motors where, after a contract was signed a strike continued just the same without warning.

Under such circumstances if the steel companies refuse to sign with the CIO the only course left is for the mediation board to invite the steel companies to sign a contract with the courts of the United States and to require the CIO unions to do likewise. A three-cornered contract, with the courts as the custodian is somewhat the same as a consent decree but in this instance the courts could require the CIO unions as well as the employers to post bonds and agree to civil suit in case of proved violation.

There are plenty of ways to settle the strike if the governor of Ohio and the President of the United States really wish to adopt a neutral instead of a partisan attitude toward law enforcement. This alone would develop a sense of responsibility on the part of labor unions.

STEEL MEN JOIN THEIR FAMILIES

Cheers and Kisses Greet Warren Workmen Released from Mills by Troops.

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., June 24—Steel workers separated from their families for a month embraced wives and children in happy reunion today after the siege of the Republic Steel Corp. plant here was partially lifted under the bayonets of national guardsmen.

About 500 of the approximately 2,500 non-striking residents of the city within a city represented by Republic's 653-acre plant poured out of the gates and sped in automobiles down streets lined with striking workers and pickets and patrolled by troops and police.

Grinning excitedly, they departed yesterday for the first time, ambi cheery expressions of "good luck" and "come back again" from company police. They passed other employes coming to work for the first time since the strike began. Fearing to run the gauntlet of pickets, the besieged workers had transferred their at-home routine to the plant while officials sought to make them comfortable.

Airplanes, using the plant's small landing field, brought in most necessities, including "almost every kind of food," officials said, from sides of beef to lemons. Forty airplane deliveries were made daily to the plant here and at near-by Niles.

Several planes were flown by workers, company officials said.

Six kitchens and six barber shops were set up, all operated by employes.

Many things which the planes could not bring in were manufactured, including washing machines.

Entertainment included skits put on by workers' talent and motion pictures and radios brought by plane.

Three religious services were held Sundays, one each for Protestants, Catholics and Negroes.

Drouth On Mars is Worse Than Midwest Dust Bowl

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

DENVER, June 24—The planet mars is having a drouth worse than any of the midwest dust bowl and the African Sahara.

The telescopic story of the drouth was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today by two Mt. Wilson astronomers, Dr. Walter S. Adams and Theodore Dunham Jr.

This drouth was observed in the equatorial regions, the area where dark spots that astronomers suspect is vegetation appear in summer.

It is the area fed by the canals of mars. Judging by today's report there is no doubt martians use irrigation, if what astronomers see is vegetation.

As to whether martians exist, the scientists were told last night by Nevil V. Sidgwick, F. R. S., eminent chemist from Oxford university, England, that chemistry indicates life there is possible.

The Mt. Wilson astronomers reported studies in February and again in April, which showed not even a trace of water vapor over mars. They used the spectrograph, which split the light from mars into rainbow lines. Water between here and mars blots out some of these lines.

The intervening water is in the earth's atmosphere, and if any, in mars' dried up air. The spectrograph always shows the earth water vapor.

But in February mars was racing directly toward the earth about 13 miles a second. That speed would place the dark lines showing water in mars' air just a bit to one side of the earth's own water lines. Nothing of the sort was seen.

Again in April mars was coming toward us at only about six miles a second. That should have produced a marked difference in the dark water lines as compared with February, provided mars was a bit damp. Again it showed nothing.

The existence of some moisture in mars' air has been shown by occasional clouds, by the frosted poles, and by observations of some other "lines" in the spectrum.

DELEGATES ATTEND V.F.W. CONVENTION

Veterans and Auxiliary Members Go to Toledo for State Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morrison, Samuel Fuller and Charles Roth left last night for Toledo to attend the annual encampment of Ohio Posts of Veterans of Foreign Wars which opened with a business session for the delegates today. Mr. Morrison is a delegate from Marion Post No. 3313, and Mrs. Morrison is president of the Women's auxiliary.

The Military Order of the Cootics will hold a business session at the Waldorf hotel, and headquarters for the veterans will be at the New Secor hotel. Headquarters for the auxiliary will be at the Commodore Perry.

Among those planning to attend the closing sessions Saturday and Sunday are Mrs. Margaret Foreman, Mrs. Laura Straw, Mrs. Delsia Baker, Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds and Miss Dorothy Van Voorhis. Veterans planning to attend one or more of the sessions are Norval V. Foreman, Paul Reynolds, John V. Ruth, LeRoy Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hurley.

FASCIST WARSHIPS MASSED OFF SPAIN

German and Italian warships patrolled the coasts of Spain on their own initiative today, their commanders acting in apparent concert.

Italian vessels were under orders to strike back immediately at any "attack" from the Spanish government. The German battle fleet, about to be reinforced by the pocket battleship Graf Spee, was told to "protect German interests."

Uneasy fear still pervaded Britain that the joint Italian-German withdrawal from the non-intervention patrol intended to isolate the Spanish war was the forerunner of an attack against government Spain as "punishment" for an alleged attempt to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig.

The German cruiser Koln arrived unexpectedly at Gibraltar, but whereabouts of the rest of the German fleet went unreported. Reports from Tangier, Morocco, said Italian and German warships had sailed from there.

From Paris, meantime, came word that France and England would look askance at any Italo-German attempt to blockade the Spanish government coast.

Germany blamed Russia and Great Britain for the new European crisis, which resulted when France and Britain refused to accede to German and Italian demands for a naval demonstration against the Valencia government.

AUTHORITIES SEARCH FOR MISSING WOMAN

she would be back for it later, relatives said.

She was wearing a blue flowered dress with a square neck, white shoes, black hat and carrying the box and bundle when last seen. She is blond, about five feet and four inches tall and weighs approximately 120 pounds.

After leaving the home of the brother-in-law, Mrs. Soule walked north a few hundred feet, away from her own home, to an east-west cross road. It was on this road that the hat of Etta Jane was found. Neighbors along this road said they had not seen her.

Children With Relatives

The three children had been taken to the home of her mother, Mrs. James Clixby about two and a half miles east of Mecker by a sister, Miss Sarah Jane Clixby who lives with the mother. The children apparently had gone to a visit and were to have been brought back to the Soules home Tuesday night. The Clixby's, however, were busy with farm work and decided to keep them there until Wednesday. They are still at the mother's home.

Mrs. Soule has relatives in Harpster and two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Kraner of south of Agosta and Miss Clixby.

The brother-in-law, went to Mrs. Soule's farm Tuesday evening and discovered she apparently had not been back all day.

He made a search and inquired among neighbors but found no trace until the hat was found at noon today.

Relatives decided to call in the sheriff this morning after their search had been fruitless. The sheriff has broadcast a description of Mrs. Soule to state highway patrolmen over the radio station at Findlay.

Mrs. Soule has been receiving a mothers' pension through juvenile court to help manage her home. She also worked at odd jobs for neighbors, as did Richard whenever the opportunity came relatives said.

SPECULATOR INDICTED

CLEVELAND, June 24 — Adrian Ettinger, Cleveland stock and grain speculator who once paid $410,000 for a stock exchange seat, was under indictment today on charges of defrauding the federal government of $594,000 in income taxes in 1930-32, which with penalties amount to $1,250,000.

BOY IS SENTENCED TO TERM IN SCHOOL

Judge Gast Performs First Official Duty Since His Recent Illness.

Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast, in his first official action since his illness late in May, sentenced Raymond McCluskey, 14, of 128 Jefferson street to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster last night in connection with a series of five thefts.

The judge visited the detention home to conduct the hearing and then returned to his home. The boy confessed to the thefts which began June 12. Warren Bull, court deputy, was to take him to Lancaster today to begin an indeterminate sentence.

Judge Gast became seriously ill with ulcers of the stomach the night of May 29 at his home and only recently was removed from City hospital. He said he expects to return to his office within a few days.

Court officials said the boy had been in court on similar charges before and that his parents had called him incorrigible, being unable to manage him. The total loot was $143.

The charge of stealing was filed against the boy by Police Chief Marks. The first theft was of two checks, one for $52 and one for $20, from the home of Mrs. Susan Fullilove at 1062 East Center street on June 12.

Other thefts included: $50 on June 16 from a grocery store on East Center street; $2 at a grocery at 193 Summit street on June 18; $4 at the Uncapher residence at 796 East Church street on June 19, also a lawn mower belonging to Carl Watrous of East Center street.

Police apprehended the boy from a description obtained from one of the victims. Court officials said the boy did not break into the homes and stores, but gained his loot by stealth.

PITTSBURGH STILL WITHOUT PAPERS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 24—Pittsburgh went without its favorite hometown newspaper today for the third consecutive day while Mayor C. D. Scully attempted to mediate a mail room strike that stilled the presses of the city's three dailies.

The mayor called the 150 strikers into a conference with representatives of The Sun-Telegraph, The Press and The Post Gazette; federal and state labor conciliators and national leaders of the mailers' union.

HARLAN SHAKEUP TO FOLLOW KILLING

HARLAN, Ky., June 24 — A wholesale turnover in Harlan county's multi-force of deputies sheriff was promised today by County Judge Morris Saylor following the latest outbreak of violence in this rich coal mining district, long a scene of labor strife.

The senate civil liberties committee concluded after a recent inquiry into labor conditions here that a "reign of terror" had existed in this trouble spot in the southeastern Kentucky mountains.

FARLEY FORECASTS COURT BILL VICTORY

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass., July 24—Postmaster General James A. Farley today predicted "a court plan satisfactory to the President would be passed in this session" of congress.

He declined comment on a statement by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania that President Roosevelt should run for a third term.

It was too early, he said, to talk about what might happen in 1940, either regarding President Roosevelt or himself.

Evidence in six cases of alleged interference with the delivery of U. S. mail in strike-torn Ohio had been investigated thoroughly by the United States attorney and postal inspectors in that state, he told newspaper men.

G. B. HERBERT RITES

Funeral services for George B. Herbert, 52, who died Monday at Grant hospital in Columbus, were conducted yesterday afternoon at the home four miles east of Waldo. Burial was made in the Waldo cemetery. Rev. Albert Furstenberger of Hamilton, O., and Rev. A. J. Currier of Delaware officiated.

Following their visit in Oakland, the fliers were to proceed to Washington for audience with President Roosevelt. GIRDLER CALLS SWOC CHIEFTAIN A LIAR free to join or not to join a union as he chooses without coercion from any source.

"(2) No employe should be forced to pay dues to a union against his will.

"(3) All employes should be permitted to take a vote by secret ballot on whether, or not, they want to strike.

"(4) There should be full publicity and public accounting of the financial affairs of every union.

"(5) The responsibility of a union in any contract, or agreement, should be equal to the responsibility assumed by a corporation. Appropriate laws to that end should be enacted."

Says He Abides by Law

Girdler said, in answer to questions, that he was complying with the national labor relations act "in every particular" and that he had been dealing "with representatives of our employes" ever since the act became effective.

"Would you object to signing a written agreement between you and an organization of your own employes?" asked Sen. Ellender, Democrat of Louisiana.

"If our own employes, properly organized, properly responsible, under proper leadership, wanted to enter into an understanding with us on wages, hours and conditions of employment," the steel magnate replied, "we would meet with them and make an arrangement satisfactory to them."

"Who would determine the propriety of their organization, whether it was responsible, and whether it had proper leadership?" demanded Sen. O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming.

"I suppose in the last analysis I would have to determine that," Girdler retorted.

Demands Responsibility

"But if you determine who the officers of the union are to be, there would be no real contract," O'Mahoney remarked.

Girdler explained that he wished to determine only whether the leadership was "responsible."

He branded as "absolutely false" Murray's statement that the CIO represented at least 60 per cent of Republic Steel employes.

"My employes tell me that they have organizations of their own in several plants, differing in nature from place to place," Girdler said. "My duly accredited representatives have been dealing with them ever since we started business."

When Ellender inquired how Girdler knew that the CIO did not represent a majority of his workers, the witness answered:

"I am perfectly certain of it. But I don't know how I can furnish figures to prove it without violating the Wagner act."

Even before Girdler's statements could be recorded his appearance engendered dispute withing the committee over whether it should recommend to the senate an intensive special investigation of the strikes.

Wants Quiz Closed

Chairman McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, wanted the committee to close its hearings after Girdler and Chicago police testified. Philip Murray, head of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, had accused steel companies of violating firearms and strike-breaker laws.

Senator Bridges, Republican of New Hampshire, whose resolution for investigation of alleged interference with the mails in the strike areas resulted in the present inquiry, opposed a suggestion that the whole matter be turned over to the LaFollette civil liberties committee.

The postoffice committee asked two Chicago police captains, James L. Mooney and Thomas Kilroy, for their versions of the fatal Memorial day riot there.

TWO PARKERS AWAIT SENTENCE OF COURT

Wednesday was set tentatively for sentencing.

The elder Parker, 65 years old choked back tears as the verdict was read. The son appeared calm. Mrs. Parker Jr., an expectant mother, wept.

Judge Clark granted testimony continuance of the $25,000 bail for the younger Parker and the $10,000 bond for the father.

Neither of the convicted men nor their attorneys would comment on the verdict.

Wendel, a former attorney, who was a major government witness and an interested spectator at every previous court session, was absent at the finale of the longest criminal trial in New Jersey federal court history.

The senior Parker's status as chief of detectives in Burlington county, a post he has held 44 years, was expected to be decided shortly. Prosecutor Howard Enstwood said today he was considering the matter, and informed sources expressed belief one of Parker's aides, Detective Clifford Cain would be named acting chief.

FOUR FACE COURT IN MAIL DISPUTE

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 24—Four men were taken to Cleveland for arraignment today by U. S. Marshall C. J. Hanborn and an inspector of the mails, on charges of obstructing the mails.

Lodged in county jail here since last night, the men were said by Otto Reichle, superintendent of the mails, to have been arrested for "something to do with postal affairs." They are believed to be held for interfering with deliveries to strike-bound plants.

MURRAY SUGGESTS ROOSEVELT ACTION

ager of the Niles Steel Products Co., declared the action was taken because of an unauthorized strike yesterday.

CIO unions called strikes in many Warren plants yesterday in a move for a projected general labor holiday as a protest against a court injunction limiting picketing at the Republic Steel plant in Warren.

The action, also, was a sympathy move against the movement of men and supplies into the Republic plant under protection of city police and the Ohio national guard, sent to the Mahoning valley by Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio to maintain the steel "status quo" while the federal mediation board continued its deliberations.

The Van Huffel Tube Corp. and the Ohio Corrugating Co. also were closed down today. There was no comment from the management.

Warren Less Tense

With the threat of a general strike over, Warren breathed easier.

"I am mighty glad it didn't happen," said Mayor G. A. Bjorren of Warren.

Gus Hall, SWOC organizer, said "there will be no general strike for the present." He added that the CIO had not issued a general strike call, saying the action of local union was spontaneous.

Concerns closed today normally employed approximately 1,000 men in this industrial city of 40,000.

Asked whether the mill force was being increased, an official of the Warren Republic plant said there was no agreement or legal order to limit the number of men who may return to their jobs.

"Judge Lynn B. Griffith in his (civil) court order Monday limiting picketing provided for free access to the plant by all men who wanted to work," the official declared.

C. R. Wheeler, assistant to the district manager, said 2,500 of a normal force of 6,500 were on the job and that all departments were operating except the hot mill.

Police Reserves Called

The general strike threat was abandoned after police reserves were ordered out to protect nonstrikers entering the Republic Steel Corp. plant.

Stones were hurled at several of the 100 to 200 automobiles, carrying one to five men each, as they drove by Pine and Walnut streets and through the plant gates for the 7 a. m. shift.

The window of one car was shattered. A large stone struck the side of another automobile as the men went to work under a court order enforced by steel-helmeted national guardsmen.

Thirty to 50 pickets were on duty but most were ordered away from the plant gates by police. These retreated to a nearby sidewalk. A short time later, national guardsmen ordered them four city blocks away from the plant.

They complied and the nonstrikers, amid two sounds of police reserves, and the guradsmen, entered without further trouble.

Three rapid fire explosions that were heard for many blocks sent fresh alarm through the city last night. The explosions were near the Republic Steel plant which hundreds of self-interned nonstrikers have kept operating despite the strike.

First it was reported an attempt had been made to blow up the plant, but the report was quickly dissipated by a plant official. C. R. Wheeler, who said he believed the explosions were caused by giant firecrackers hurled in the direction of the plant from the Mahoning river or from the opposite bank.

The situation at Youngstown was in sharp contrast to that at Warren. At Youngstown the strikers are jubilant over the presence of troops because the soldiers are under orders to keep the four plants of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and Republic Steel closed. Both companies had planned to open Tuesday in response, they said, to petitions from a large number of their employes who want to work.

In Warren, however, the troops are enforcing a court order which calls for disarming of pickets and for guarantee of safety to workers entering or leaving the plant.

The Republic plant at Warren announced today that about 2,500 were on the payroll yesterday, and that $350,000 was paid in wages, compared to a normal $550,000 for the two-week period. The plant is operating on three-hour shifts, the same as before the strike was called 29 days ago. Up to yesterday, when it was compelled to work with self-interned employes, the company operated on 12-hour shifts.

About 300 of the "voluntary producers" left the plant yesterday unmolested. An equal number of non-strikers who previously had been unable to enter because of heavy picket lines at the entrance went into the plant.

CIO leaders protested to Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light, in charge of the militia in the Mahoning valley, that the steel company was increasing the number of its workers. It was taken under advisement.

No effort has yet been made to relieve Republic's workers at their nearby Niles plant which, like the plant here, has been operating with workmen who have remained inside the buildings. The Niles situation will be taken up after the operations here have been normalized, officials said.

The force of 550 guardsmen originally sent to Warren was reenforced last night by a detachment from nearby Youngstown.

Wedding Service Read for Former Marion Teacher

THE marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Young Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ross Jackson of Mount Vernon, a former member of the staff at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school here, and Edward Barrington Haynes of London and Gomshall, England, was solemnized at noon today in the Church of the Holy Spirit, in Mount Vernon. The ceremony was read by Rev. Samuel S. Hardy, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Marion, in the presence of the family and friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was attended by Miss Eleanor Barnard of Oberlin, music instructor in the Marion public schools. The bride's brother, Charles Jackson of Mount Vernon, was Mr. Haynes' best man.

A white tailored suit with a net blouse of white, and an off-the-face hat of toyo straw was chosen by the bride for the ceremony. Her flowers were orchids arranged in a shoulder corsage. Miss Barnard wore a light blue suit with a tailored blouse and a hat in matching colors. Completing her costume was a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast for the bridal party and a few close friends at the home of the bride's parents, and later Mr. and Mrs. Haynes left on a wedding trip to Yellowstone National park, Grand Canyon and Colorado Springs. They will return to Mount Vernon for two weeks before sailing Aug. 11 on the Queen Mary for Gomshall where they will make their home.

Mrs. Haynes attended Lake Erie School for Girls, was graduated from Ohio State university, and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She has been on the staff at the Thomas A. Edison school for the last two years.

Mr. Haynes, who is an authority on antique glass, recently wrote and published a book on the subject. He is a director of a furniture warehouse in London.

FLAME TRAIL

SYNOPSIS: Saving a desperate "dude man" (Ted Gaynor) from setting a forest fire to get a job, Kay Crandon offers him a place at the Lazy Nine; she believes it is decent. She rides home to find her ranch house and barns lost in flames. Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, who wants to buy the Lazy Nine and marry Kay, invites her there, but the distress him. However, her second sister, Babs, and peppery Aunt Kate gladly visit Hastings. Ted joins Kay's outfit and rides to town with Kay and the insurance papers. Dan Steele, the banker, dashes her hopes of rebuilding—the insurance money has to go toward the mortgage.

CHAPTER EIGHT
Friend or Foe?

"EVEN if this fire hadn't happened, you were sailing very close to the wind," said Dan Steele.

"You and what made this fire happen?" Kay flung out darkly. "How far is John Hastings ready to go to get my ranch?"

"Kay, I'm amazed at you! Do you realize what you are implying?" Dan Steele gazed sternly into the rebellious brown eyes. "I must say that again! I don't like to see you receive a friendly offer in such a spirit."

"Friendly offer!" Kay scoffed. "If he's so friendly, why doesn't he lend me the five thousand to redeem?"

She suggested that to him, but he says that for your own good, you should face the fact now that the ranch is too much for you to carry, and give up the idea once and for all. You can't afford to antagonize a good friend, Kay. He's done you a mighty friendly turn right now, in offering his hospitality to you all."

"Yes, he's got me in a trap, and he knows it." Kay sprang to her feet and faced Dan Steele with reckless abandon. "But I'll get out of it somehow. You mean to be a real friend, I know," she caught herself up to choke back a sob, "but how can you be a banker, when you can't see through that man? Why can he pull the wool over everyone's eyes but mine?"

She turned away and fumbled with the door-knob in a wild desire to escape before she broke down. Pulling the door open, she gave a little cry and recoiled a step. On the threshold, smiling and urbane, stood Josh Hastings.

How long has he been there? How much had he heard? Dimly conscious of Dan Steele's surprised and apologetic greeting, Kay pushed past the newcomer and ran out of the bank.

Preventing A Loan

"Well, well. Kay seems to be in kind of a rush." Josh Hastings gave no sign of having heard any of the conversation, but Dan Steele eyed him uneasily. He had never had much more than a passing acquaintance with Hastings, and as he looked now into his imperturbable eyes that resembled discs of bright blue china in his florid face, he wondered if possibly Kay was right in her estimate of this man. He certainly hoped that none of Kay's wild talk had been overheard.

"Reckon the poor kid took it kind of hard about the insurance," Hastings went on, and Dan Steele felt his vague suspicions dispelled by the genial sympathy of his tone.

"She did, poor child," he answered with extra heartiness to make up for his momentary unfriendly thought toward his visitor. After all, he mustn't allow himself to be influenced by a hysterical girl, which, in spite of her good sense, Kay obviously was at the moment. "She'd counted on having that money to rebuild."

"She didn't take any too kindly to my suggestion, I gather?" Hastings surmised shrewdly.

Dan Steele shot him a quick look and he added, "From the way she streaked past me I reckoned I wasn't rating very high with her right then. Poor kid!" His tolerant laugh again allayed Dan Steele's fears that he might have heard Kay's wild accusation.

"She'll probably come around, when she gets over the shock and has time to think about it," Dan Steele said, "I told her your offer was a fair one and advised her to take it. Seeing how terribly she feels, though," he went on, half ruminating to himself, "I'm almost inclined to stretch a point and lend her a few thousand to rebuild myself."

"You'd be doing her anything but a kindness," Hastings argued earnestly. "It's far better for her to face the situation now, and take this chance to get out. This fire will really prove a blessing in disguise, in the end."

"Something in what you say," Dan Steele answered thoughtfully. "Still, the interest on five thousand isn't any too much to live on. And some day, the ranch will be worth a whole lot more than that."

"Sure it will, if it's properly handled," Hastings agreed. "But with a girl struggling against all the odds she'll have to meet, it's a hundred to one she'll lose the whole thing without salvaging even a nest egg of five thousand."

"Reckon you're right," Dan Steele sighed. "Raising false hopes isn't any kindness, that's sure."

"As to Kay's future, with her hair, and eyes she's got no call to worry about that." Hastings gave a sudden laugh. "I'd be willing to insure that myself, if worst came to worst! And she might do worse, at that," he ended jocularly.

"You mean..." Dan Steele looked up in surprise, and gave a knowing whistle. "So that's the way the wind blows!"

"Why not?" Hastings defended. "I'm only 37. That way, she can have the ranch with me thrown in! But I didn't mean to get off on that track." He frowned at his momentary indiscretion. "Forget I said it, will you? The time isn't ripe for that yet. I just wanted you to realize that I've got Kay's real interest at heart."

"I do realize it," Dan Steele said heartily, "and you've convinced me I'd be making a mistake to lend the money."

"Then you'll keep on persuading her to accept my offer, will you? Though I don't see how she can help herself. There isn't any one else around here right now who has five thousand, that I know of."

"You've said it," the banker agreed. "I'll do my best."

"Say," Hastings paused as he reached the door, "who was that guy that came in with Kay? The fellow who was waiting for her outside?"

"I don't know," Steele answered. "I didn't see him. One of her punchers, I reckon."

Hastings shook his head. "Not unless it's a new one, and I doubt if she's engaging any new punchers right now. He looked like a bird I had a run-in with a few years ago. Only he's grown a lot thinner, if it is the same one." His jaw set in an ugly line.

"Sorry I can't help you out." Dan Steele accompanied him to the door. "But I'll do my best in that other matter. I'll go out to the Lazy Nine in a day or so."

"Stop over and see us when you do," Hastings urged. "It mightn't be a bad idea to drop a word or two in Aunt Kate's ear. She's a sketch!" He gave a sudden guffaw and winked at the banker. "I'm getting her on my side, all right! It was a lucky break having her show up when she did."

"You're being mighty generous and hospitable," Dan Steele said warmly.

Hastings gave a magnanimous wave of his hand. "Glad to do it," he boomed, heartily. "If you think of any other way I can help out, let me know."

Dan Steele stood in the door and watched him stride over to his horse and mount.

"Kay's all wrong about that fellow," he soliloquized. "He's got her real interest at heart. I'm glad I didn't act like a sentimental fool and commit myself to lending her that money. It would be the same as throwing it away."

He turned back into the bank as Hastings headed off toward the mesa, a shrewd smile of satisfaction on his face.

A Snatch of Gossip

As Ted sat waiting, with Flicker's reins tossed carelessly over the pommel of his own saddle, he noticed two punchers who met in front of the bank and stopped to chat.

Not really listening to their conversation, Ted nevertheless could not help overhearing it. But he paid no attention—his mind was busy with thoughts of Kay, and the miraculous change she had made in him from yesterday's low ebb of despair.

Suddenly he became aware that one of the men had mentioned Kay's name, and that the two of them were indulging in that particular brand of guffaw that indicates the appreciation of some more or less ribald joke.

Galvanized to instant attention Ted keenly watched the two as they sauntered past him and made for a large red and black sign announcing that Mike Kelly welcomed the world to his "Puncher's Paradise."

"Sure, my boss says she's up against it. Reckon she won't be so proud and haughty at the next dance."

The puncher who was announcing this news with such gloating satisfaction, suddenly leaned close to his companion's ear and whispered, a leering smile twisting his mouth.

The next minute they had passed by Ted and were pushing in the swinging doors of the "Puncher's Paradise." There was no mistaking either the expression, or the quality of the guffaw, with which the other puncher received the whispered communication.

With narrowed eyes and his mouth set in a grim line, Ted dismounted, slipped the two horses' reins over a hitching post and strode after the pair.

Ted starts a fight — and finishes it—tomorrow.

FIGHT ON NEW TAXES PUSHED

Chamber of Commerce Continues Action Against Additional State Levies.

A new development in the fight of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Inter-Organization conference against new state taxes came today as the Marion Chamber prepared to send out information bulletins to approximately 200 members of the Chamber here. The bulletins contain a digest of the 167-page book, "A Study in Trends," prepared by the Ohio Chamber.

They show an increase of 129 per cent in state departmental expenditures in the last six years and indicate that unless a halt is called state government costs will become prohibitive by 1941 or 1942.

They recommend a cutting of the budget and oppose new taxes, and urge action be taken by all citizens to prevent new levies by the state.

W. D. Brown, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, was in Columbus yesterday at a meeting of leaders of the Ohio Inter-Organization conference, a tax fighting group, called in preparation for the convening of the state legislature shortly.

The conference last spring was successful in opposing new taxes and is planning to continue the fight in the summer session of the general assembly.

Mr. Brown is secretary of the Marion county chapter of the conference and also was active in organizing chapters in Morrow, Delaware, Union and Wyandot counties.

OFFICIALS STUDYING MUNICIPAL FINANCES

Mayor and Clerk Begin Study After Firemen Ask for Full Pay.

A study of city finances, started as a result of firemen's request for full pay, is being made by Mayor Smith and City Clerk Harry Brookshire and is expected to be completed in a few days. The mayor said he does not know what the final figures might show—whether the city is able to pay firemen 100 per cent salaries or must continue on the 85 per cent scale now in effect.

One of the important factors in the question is the city's pledge of full pay, implied in the special one and a half mill levy for policemen's and firemen's salaries, Mayor Smith said.

Firemen have been receiving 85 per cent pay for the last 17 months, not 17 weeks as reported in last night's Star. Petitions asking for full pay are now under consideration by the council finance committee, whose chairman, Robert H. Stief, said he will invite firemen's representatives to a special meeting shortly before city council meets in three weeks.

The petitions were signed by various groups under the Marion Central Labor Union, Buckeye Aerie No. 237 F. O. Eagles, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Marion Food Distributors association.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Marion and Carolyn Are Unaware of Fact That Boys Are Staying at Camp.

I SENT a grateful glance to Katherine as I heard the shrill hurrahs of the small boys in welcome to the Underwood party, and saw the wildly waving handkerchiefs of Katherine, Dicky and Williams. Even Baby Faith, in Katherine's arms, had a big handkerchief tied to her chubby wrist, and Katherine was waving the baby's hand and handkerchief as well as her own.

With characteristic precelence and presence of mind, she had seized upon the one thing which would present a plausible excuse for my leaving the Underwood car and rushing to the camp. Marion and Carolyn—the only ones I wished kept in ignorance of the real reason for my mysterious absence—would believe that I had given a mandate for the staging of this flamboyant welcome.

Plot Working Well.

I could imagine that their opinion of my mentality and my good taste would drop perceptibly, but I cared little for that. By the time Bill and Hank should appear, the incident of the hectic welcome would be fixed in their minds as the "surprise" I meant to give them, and I knew that I would be able to give an air of casualness to the appearance upon the scene of Bill and Hank.

Anything rather, than to embarrass the young brothers in the throes of "puppy love." I knew that "idyllic" was the only adjective to apply to the feeling cherished by Bill and Hank. Theirs was a delicate, almost reverential emotion, that of Bill especially.

I was determined that before they went back to school they should have their chance to enjoy the companionship of Marion and Carolyn—even if only for a day or two—without the girls being distracted by Ronald Brixton and Bob Cromwell, their special cavaliers, or by the other collegians who trailed in the wake of the two girls whenever they had the opportunity to do so.

Madge Troubled.

Carolyn's reference to the possibility of Canadian college men following them to the camp troubled me a little, but I reflected a bit grimly that a little maneuvering upon the part of the grown-ups at the camp would keep the young men from finding it, even if they did come to the hamlet near which it was located.

There were but two or three people in the hamlet who knew us by name, and I guessed that a hint from Nell Gibbs that we wished absolute seclusion would put an effective clamp upon the lips of the people who knew where our camp was located. And, without direction, it was well nigh impossible to find the hidden spot in the woods where we were.

Dicky and Harry Underwood were shaking each other's hands vigorously now, and "slanging" each other in the fashion they always effect toward each other.

"I hope you're hungry," Mr. Underwood announced, "because, as I just told the Lady Fair, here, we're going to take the Graham tribe out and feed 'em."

"The Graham tribe, to a man, has only just finished extracting its separate noses from the feed bag," Dicky answered. "You timed your invitation well, old-timer. How did you guess our supper hour so well?"

"Men have been shot for milder cracks than that," his friend declared threateningly. "But I'll forgive you, as I so often have to do, and I'll propose a compromise. If you'll rustle us a sandwich or two to keep us from starving, I'll stake you a little later to a supper at some place where they have good eats and a good orchestra.

"These gals are dying for a dance, and I never knew mein good frau or the Lady Fair to refuse to shake a wicked foot when the music starts. It means that you and I will have to spread ourselves thin, but it's a good cause, and I'm willing to dance the soles of my shoes off in so worthy an endeavor."

Marion and Carolyn giggled, but I fancied that their laughter was dutiful, rather than spontaneous, I guessed, too, that the prospect of dancing with middle-aged masculine relatives was not particularly glamorous.

It was time, I decided, to spring my surprise, and I packed my voice with meaning as I addressed Harry Underwood.

"Perhaps you and Dicky won't have to work as hard as you fear," I said.

Champ Joe Louis Looks For Work—"An' Lots of It"

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO June 24 — Heavyweight champion Joe Louis is looking for work—an lots of it!

The new ruler of ringdom, by virtue of his eighth round knockout of James J Braddock last night which increased his fighting personal bankroll by $100,000 isn't worrying about his next meal is coming but is planning on going in training with his new crown.

"The playoffs don do me no good," said Joe as he packed his bags preparatory to leaving today for Detroit and a visit with friends. "I want to fight as soon as possible. Many managers want me to take first to meet Max Baer but that up to them."

"Anyway things shape up Joe don't have to worry about long as Mike Jacobs the New York promoter who staged Tuesday's title bout, yesterday announced a two-year extension of his contract with the 23-year-old titleholder. The extension gives Jacobs exclusive rights to the Negro's services for the next five years.

A clause in the new agreement which replaces one which had two years to run, provides for as many as four fights a year with the probability that Louis will see action at least twice annually. Jacobs' principal concern now is handing one more fight his way with the big objective being a Louis-Schmeling bout in September in New York. He said Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago and London were bidding to put the young champion in action.

Jacobs also disclosed he has effected a three-year agreement for the fighting services of the ex-champion, Braddock. Concerning in Braddock's opinion that he is not "through" the promoter hopes to land a suitable opponent for Jersey Jim in the fall or early winter preferably Max Baer.

Jacobs will remain here two or three days winding up final business of the bout expected to return a promotional profit of about $100,000.

Braddock who spent yesterday resting up at a hotel left early today with Mrs Braddock for their New Jersey home. He still showed visibly the effects of Louis' terrific punching. One eye was still closed while below and above it were two bad cuts. Ten stitches had to be taken in his upper lip.

HUBBELL'S WINNING WAYS RETURN AS HE DEFEATS CUBS, 8-4

Yanks Downed, 6-3, by Lowly Browns, Detroit Loses to Boston

BY BILL BONI

I served as a bit of encouragement to Manager Bill Terry today that Carl Hubbell is back on the winning track, recovered from the private ills, non-winning malady that set in the day the Dodgers broke his two-season winning streak at 24 straight.

But the manner in which his Giants went about providing for Hubbell's eighth victory of the season, his 54 conquest of the Chicago Cubs yesterday was equally heartening to the man whose club is locked in a three-way struggle for masters of the National league.

How the Giants managed to pace the circuit for nine days was something of a puzzle. Their pitching was far from extraordinary and their hardly could have been compared to the Yankees in power at the plate.

Even the addition of Wally Berger to the lineup after they had slipped out of first place didn't bring immediate results. So yesterday's performance in which the Terrymen lambed on four of the Cubs best pitchers was gratifying to Terry and a warning to the Cubs out front by one game and the Cardinals tied for second with the Giants.

While the Giants were disposing of the league leaders the Cards and Dizzy Dean kept pace by turning back the Dodgers 3-2. Two unearned runs cost Brooklyn the game after Van Mungo a two-hit pitcher for seven innings was forced to withdraw because of a blister on the index finger of his salary hand.

Two well pitched games completed the National league program. Hugh Mulcahy lifted the Phils into sixth place with a four-hit 3-0 job on the Reds while young Russ Bauers of the Pirates turned in a six-hitter that was good enough to cost the Bees their eleventh straight loss by 6-5.

In the American league the front running Yanks were spilled by the St Louis Browns 6-3 but lost no ground as second place Detroit dropped a 6-5 decision to the Red Sox. The Cleveland Indians continued to suffer their road trip jitters in a 14-5 pasting by the Senators and the Athletics who have scored one run in their last three games, subjected their second successive shutout, a 2-0 performance by the White Sox who won on only three hits, two of them homers.

Lloyd Brown took over bedridden Johnny Allen's startling pitching assignment to the tottering Indians today in the series finale.

SNATCHES OF SPORT

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, June 24—This is the land of Panthers and Pirates. Hes only got em three deep out at Pitt, but already Coach Jock Sutherland has started feating the two Dukes—Duke and Duquesne.

The baseball addicts still give the Pirates a good chance for the National league bunting even if they aren't clicking like they did earlier in the season. Out in Chicago they don't regard the Giants as formidable as last season but here in Pittsburgh the man in the street says the Terrymen are the ones the Pirates must beat. One funny angle about the Chicago fight was that there were more ringside seats sold (at $27.50 per throw) than in the $8 and $3 sections. Mike Jacobs wishes he could figure that one out.

That gent in the heavyweight driver's seat is Michael Strauss Jacobs .. with contracts with Schmeling Braddock and Louis in his pocket he has em all saying uncle. The boys give old Harry Lenny, manager of Ray Impellitiere a lot of credit for Joe Louis' victory. They say Harry tipped Joe how to dodge Braddock's right. Professional football players guarded the dressing rooms of Louis and Braddock. Lou Gordon of the Green Bay Packers parked his 240 pounds in front of Louis' old Georgetown and Chicago quarters and Jim Mooney, the Cardinal star, was in front of Braddock's door. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees is trying to squeeze off a little avoirdupois by wearing a rubber shirt under his uniform.

Another Hornsby is on the way up, gents. Down in Palestine (Tex.) a Brown farm by the way, a catcher named Mickey Hornsby already has distinguished himself by catching two no-hit games this season. Can't you just see Max Schmeling strutting around the streets of Berlin? Jimmy Braddock lost his title but he's in the chips again and the little Braddocks will eat for a while. Jim got about $250,000 for taking that pasting Tuesday night ... after he splits with Joe Gould, pays taxes and settles with Mike Jacobs, he figures to have around $75,000 left.

Max Macon Holds Brewers Scoreless for Eight Innings

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO June 24 — Toledo and Minneapolis shared the leadership of the American association race today but the Millers were up there only through the help of the lowly Kansas City Blues.

The Mud Hens lost a chance to take undisputed possession of first place when Kansas City took a 6-5 decision in the second game of a double header last night. The Blues dropped the first game 11 to 4.

Louisville collected 19 hits for 21 bases to defeat Minneapolis 10 to 0. Buck Marrow kept the Millers under control until the ninth when they went on a six hit splurge that netted four runs.

St Paul bunched five hits with two errors for six runs in the second inning to defeat Indianapolis 7 to 2. Pat McLaughlin Indian hurler slipped on wet grass in a play which should have retired the Apostles in the fatal second.

The Milwaukee Brewers fell below the .400 mark for the first time this season when Columbus defeated the champions 9 to 2. Max Macon, Columbus southpaw, held the Brewers scoreless for eight innings.

HERE'S WHY FIRESTONE ALWAYS GIVES YOU SO MUCH

More for your Money

Higher Quality Raw Materials! More Efficient Manufacturing! Lower Distribution Cost!

These All Combine to Give You Extra Values at No Extra Cost

FROM the day of its introduction, the Firestone Standard Tire has more than lived up to its name by setting a new high standard of tire values. Hundreds of thousands of car owners have already bought it because they saw in it more value for their money.

"How does Firestone do it? How can they build so many extra value features into Firestone Standard Tires and yet sell them at such low prices?" The answer is simple — Firestone controls better-quality rubber and cotton supplies at their source, keeps manufacturing costs low by efficient factory methods and sells in such huge volume that distribution costs are held to a minimum. That is why Firestone has been able to give you such extra value features as Gum-Dipping, two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread and eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cord, at no extra cost to you.

Make no mistake about this! The Firestone Standard Tire gives you the blowout protection of Firestone's patented Gum Dipping process. Its scientifically designed tread gives greater non-skid protection and longer wear. And those two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread guard against punctures.

Before you buy ANY tire at ANY price, see today's top tire value — the Firestone Standard Tire. Don't risk your life with thin, worn tires on your Fourth of July trip. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires.

THE GATEWAY TO GREATER TIRE VALUES

TODAY, from the jungles of Liberia, there has arisen a great rubber plantation on which the world's finest rubber tree is being produced.

From the Firestone-owned and Firestone-developed rubber plantations in Liberia there comes an ever-increasing supply of rubber, bringing greater savings to car owners in the form of extra values at no extra cost.

The county will pay the veterinarians with the funds appropriated.

The following helpers have been appointed by the commissioners to assist veterinarians:

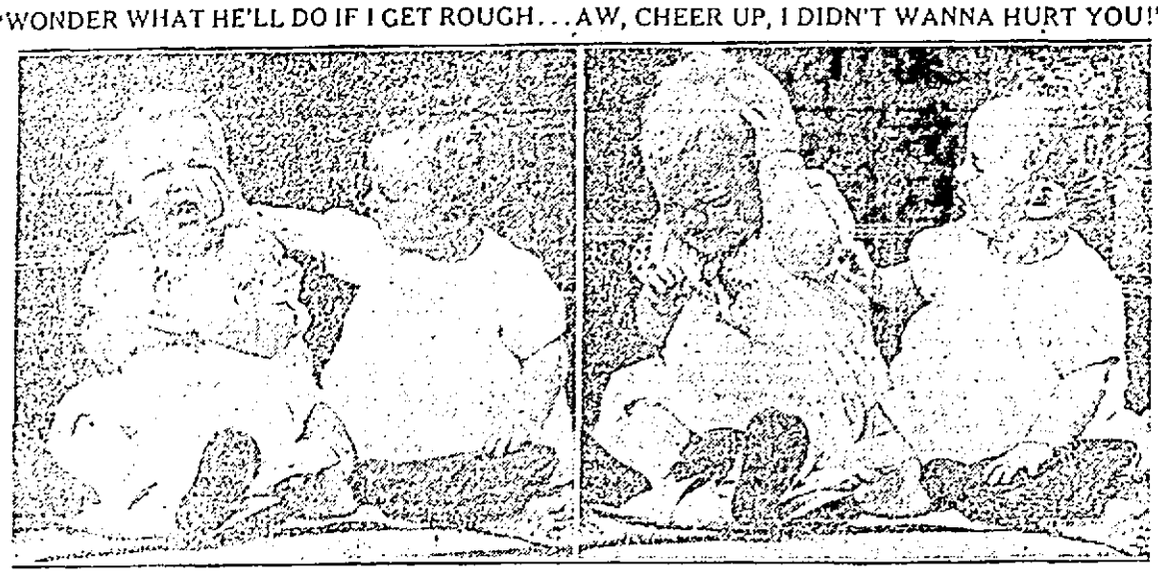
DEMOLAY OFFICERS ARE APPOINTED

John Craner, master councilor of Marion Chapter of DeMolay, appointed officers at a meeting last night at the Masonic temple.

Those appointed are Fred Gebaugh, senior deacon; Quinten Hinamon, junior deacon; Joseph Todd, senior steward; Junior Denzer, junior steward; Ray Mayfield, marshal; Robert Campbell, chaplain; James Gast, standard bearer; John Gracely, orderly; Warren Callahan, sentinel; Bushy Sweeney, John Andrews, Leslie Reichardt, Jack Anderson, Robert Baker, Morris Gast and John Imbody, preceptors.

A dance late in July was discussed.

"WONDER WHAT HE'LL DO IF I GET ROUGH . . . AW, CHEER UP, I DIDN'T WANNA HURT YOU!"



A study in youthful curiosity is pictured in these two photographs, taken during the Wembley Coronation Kids baby show at Wembley hospital, in England. The young man on the right probably said, "Unless you cheer up you'll never have a chance to get the prize." He emphasized the remark with a gentle push. The push did the business. The young man, who until that time had merely looked sorrowful, burst into real tears, and the curly-haired gentleman merely said: "Sorry, old bean, very sorry. But don't make a scene, you know. You'll have even less chance if you do."

SEA SCOUT SHIP WILL HOLD PARTY

Members of Sea Scout Ship Paul Sipe will be hosts at a party Friday at 7:30 at Camp John A. Owens, which all present or former sea scouts are invited to attend with their girl friends.

A program of entertainment, including games, contests and refreshments, is planned. Dr. V. C. Kissell, chairman of the ship committee, is directing arrangements, assisted by R. L. Shuck, P. H. Rea and Edwin Chaney. Wives of committee members will serve as chaperones.

The scout ships charter for the next year, recently renewed, will be presented and two 10-year veteran awards will be made, going to Dr. Kissell and Howard Stofer.

WITNESS TESTIFIES TO BALLOT CHANGES

By The Associated Press

IRONTON, O., July 24—Dan C. Rapp, former Lawrence county deputy auditor, was booked as the state's "star witness" today in trial of four persons on charges of altering ballots to "throw" a county commissioner election of last November.

For an hour and a half Rapp told of how entrance was made to the election board offices and how the ballots were altered. He was under cross-examination when court recessed at noon.

Rapp denied under questioning by Defense Attorney A. J. Layne that he had been promised immunity for his testimony.

"I expect no immunity for this or any other offence," Rapp said.

Rapp testified that on one Saturday night he and Pratt went to the county relief office, which adjoins the board of elections in the court house basement, and slept there all night.

"On Sunday morning Elizabeth Griffith came in," he said. "She was followed by John Zeck. He furnished the key to a door leading to the room where the ballots were kept.

"Elizabeth and I started to go in with Pratt. He said his heart was beating too fast and he told Miss Griffith to go in with me."

Rapp said he and Miss Griffith opened the boxes one by one and altered ballots in 15 precincts. He said Miss Griffith took ballots in the other room to Pratt, but that he did not see Pratt change any.

OHIOAN OPPOSES "LITTLE TVA" IDEA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—The senate agricultural committee today mulled over an Ohioan's opposition to President Roosevelt's "little TVA" flood control program.

Alan N. Jordan, executive secretary of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control congress told the committee that inclusion of a power program in the flood control reservoir system would be "ill-advised." This is provided in the President's proposal.

"Reservoirs for flood control and power," said Jordan, "should be built separately, because flood control reservoirs must be empty during rainy periods, and no power would be available under such circumstances.

HARMONY SESSIONS TO OPEN TOMORROW

Some 300 Democrats Expected To Attend Powwow on Eve of Court Bill Debate.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 24—"Harmony" conferences between President Roosevelt and Democrats in congress will begin tomorrow, almost on the eve of senate debate over a measure which has divided party ranks—the court reorganization bill.

Majority Leader Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, announced last night that the senate probably would take up the court bill late next week after passage of appropriation measures required by July 1.

Most of the bill's foes will be present at the three-day series of party meetings on secluded Jefferson Island in Chesapeake bay.

Among them will be Senators Wheeler of Montana, leader of the senate opposition; Van Nuys of Indiana, Bailey of North Carolina, and such outspoken foes opponents as Representatives Cox of Georgia and Lumneck of Ohio.

Nearly all the Democrats turning down the invitations have pleaded previous engagements or illness. Only long-time critics of the President have disclosed a disinclination to attend.

Best estimates from those in charge of the affair were that about 300 representatives and more than 60 senators would be present. They will be divided into three groups for Friday, Saturday and Sunday sessions.

Democratic leaders have discounted the possibility of serious discussion of the court issue at the conferences, which they describe as primarily social.

But one group of enthusiastic new dealers—headed by Rep. Maverick of Texas—has expressed a determination to talk business.

The Maverick group hoped to get agreement on a long enough congressional session to permit enactment of crop insurance, wage and hour standards, housing and social and economic legis-

For Friday, June 25

A VERY propitious progressive and exciting day is forecast from the lively operations of major planets. In business connections with trusts, merges or secret bodies, political or diplomatic circles, large things are under way, with those in high positions being friendly and encouraging. High goals should be aimed at under this sway.

Those who birthday it is may be prepared for a year of great and happy fulfilments in the realm of cherished aims, hopes and wishes, the heart's desires meeting high culminations in the private and business lives with possibly honors, distinctions and recognitions from persons in high places.

A child born on this day may be endowed highly with personal, professional and business talents, possibly attaining high place in political, diplomatic and social life. Preferments, prestige and power are assured. Its nature may be expansive, noble, compassionate and magnanimous.

SON FINED FOR FATHER

For an offense committed by his father, Auguste Gourlain of Dreux, France, has been fined 50 cents, although his parent has been dead 26 years. A policeman stopped Pierre Gourlain 31 years ago and took copious notes because this otherwise good citizen had his dog out for a walk without a leash. The offender passed away in 1911 and soon afterward the dog died. Recently the police decided to clear their docket, and among the unsettled cases they found the one against Pierre Gourlain.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 24—Wool was quiet in the Boston market today. A few users made inquiries but there was little inclination to buy as the wool handlers' strike prevented immediate delivery.

An occasional buyer showed willingness to buy ahead but in most cases looked for price concessions. Most dealers adhered firmly to asking prices which have prevailed for the past week or more.

STOCKS BUOYED BY WAR THREAT

Coppers and Steels Lead Mild Upswing as Germans Mass Fleet Off Spain.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 24—Massing of a powerful German warship fleet off Portugal injected life into stock market "war babies" today, notably coppers and steels.

Although business was generally quiet along the trading front, coppers were stimulated by cables citing heavier buying of copper futures and shares abroad and scored gains of fractions to around a point. The rest of the list was irregularly higher.

Steels behaved better after an indifferent start on demand also attributed by brokers to war threats. Gains in this sector were not evenly held, however.

Rails pushed ahead on buying said to have been prompted by the "oversold" condition of this group but some carriers felt selling.

Issues which developed a following were Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Steel, Wheeling Steel, Chrysler U. S. Rubber, and Westinghouse.

Bonds were shaded. Wheat was up, corn mixed.

Widening of the discount on French franc futures under the spot rate provided traders with one yard-stick of growing apprehension over French fiscal and political problems.

Disclosure France's gold stabilization fund had been nearly drained indicated the fund might be obliged to call for aid from the bank of France.

Recent resistance of shares of companies in the consumers' goods field was studied in the light of bureau of labor statistics showing increased payrolls and employment.

An upturn of more than 1,450,000 workers employed and nearly $70,000,000 in weekly payrolls over May, 1936, was reported last month by combined manufacturing and non-manufacturing industries, secretary of labor Perkins disclosed.

Labor bureau figures also showed about 77,000 workers went back to jobs in May and weekly payrolls rose nearly $5,200,000 over April.

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., June 24—Committee for Industrial Organization strikers anticipated today an attempt by members of the Fostoria Foundry Workers' union to return to work at the Electric Auto-Lite Co.'s Fostoria plant.

F. A. Hinchley, of Tiffin, attorney for the foundry union, said his organization had been indorsed over the CIO at a federal election and had reached an agreement with the company on wages and hours. Four hundred employes yesterday marched to the plant and warned CIO strikers they would return to work today.

WHEAT PRICE WAVERS AND CLOSES LOWER

Profit Taking Follows Upturn Linked to Drouth and Foreign Upswing.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 24—Wheat fluctuated nervously today, advancing more than a cent a bushel at one stage but then reacting to close below yesterday's finish.

Hedging pressure and profit taking contributed to the persistent selling while high temperatures in some sections of the grain belt, better than three cents upturn in Liverpool wheat and reports of failure of the wheat crop in parts of southwestern Saskatchewan and in stretches of the domestic northwest helped buying.

July corn was lifted more than 2 cents at one stage to $1.20 a bushel.

Wheat closed unchanged to ½ lower, July 1.13¾@¾, September 1.13¾@.14, and corn was ¾ off to 2 cents higher, July new 1.19¾@¼, September 1.04¾@¾. Oats were ½ off to ¼ up. July soy beans advanced the limit of 4 cents a bushel.

2-YEAR NUISANCE TAX GIVEN SENATE OKAY

Extension Previously Approved by House Also Applies to 3-Cent Postage.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24 — The senate voted today to extend the so-called nuisance taxes and the three cent postage rate for two years instead of one.

The house had voted a two year extension, but the senate finance committee recommended an extension of only one year for the postal and tax rates estimated to yield $650,000,000 annually.

Sen. Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, opposed the longer extension, asserting the finance committee had voted unanimously for only one year because it did not have time of hold hearings.

Chairman Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, said hearings had been held on all the taxes in previous years. He personally favored a two year extension, but said he was embarrassed by his committee vote.

The senate vote was 50 to 26.

Taxes involved included those on gasoline, electric energy, lubricating oil, telegraph and telephone communication, toilet preparations and many other selected items.

ADAMS COUNTY JOB GOES TO DEMOCRATS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Rufus Cox, Democrat, held the office of Adams county engineer today under a state supreme court decision ousting Charles W. Riffle, Republican.

Riffle defeated Cox at the November election and had occupied the office since January as Cox's successor. Contending that Riffle was not a registered engineer or surveyor as required by law, Cox claimed the office on the ground he must serve until a successor was qualified.

Riffle contended the law provided that unqualified persons could seek reelection, that he had held the office several years previously, and that the provision thus applied to him.

The supreme court held that this provision applied only to incumbents, and awarded Cox the job.
